Tribute by one of Guatemala's leading human rights organizations, named for Myrna Mack, a Guatemalan anthropologist and friend and mentor to Diane, who was assassinated in 1990.

“The Board of Directors, Director and staff of the Myrna Mack Foundation deeply regret the death of anthropologist Diane Nelson.

Diane was a friend and colleague of Myrna Mack, and her research was always committed to improving conditions for the most dispossessed. She put her anthropological work at the service of others, sharing with her students her knowledge, social commitment, and passion for research.

Saddened that she has left us, we send our solidarity to her family, colleagues, and friends for such an irreparable loss. Rest in peace. Guatemala, April 28, 2022.”
